

Navigating the conference

Terrace Ballrooms

OSBA will use the Terrace Ballrooms for the Business Meeting briefing and conference luncheons.

E-mail Stations

Check your e-mail at these locations during the conference. Sponsored by VARtek Services Inc.

Information Station

Stop by the Information Station to get any Capital Conference questions answered. This also is the place to go for copies of speaker handouts.

NSPRA/Ohio Idea Center

Sample school publications and counselors on call.

Region Resource Center

Stop by to meet OSBA regional managers and leaders to learn more about regional activities.

Experience Columbus Booth

Plan evening activities and make dinner reservations here.

OSBA Bookstore

All the books OSBA offers, including conference speakers' books, are available here.

Conference Lounge and Coat Check

Rest your feet between sessions in the lounge. Next door you can check your coat and hat for the day.

OSBA Pavilion

Association programs and services are on display, with staff on hand to explain member benefits and answer questions on a variety of educational issues.

Student Achievement Fair

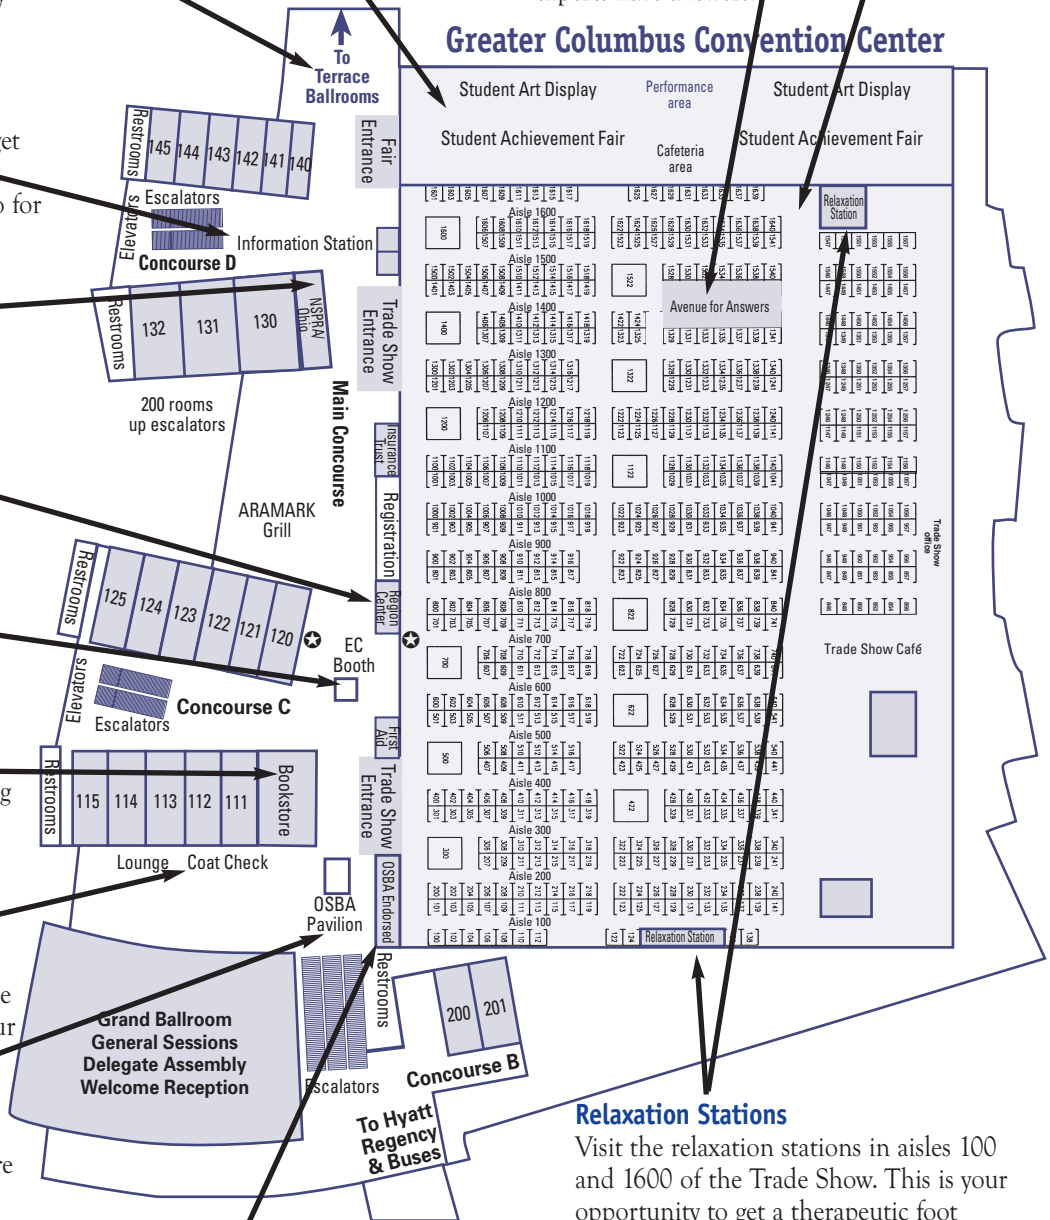

Visit the 12th annual Student Achievement Fair on the north end of the Trade Show floor. Learn how other school districts are creating programs to increase student achievement.

Trade Show 2010

The largest vendor exhibition in the history of the Capital Conference fills the exhibit halls.

Avenue for Answers

If you have questions, the experts have answers.

OSBA Endorsed Programs

Stop by and learn the latest on specific programs designed to save your district money with paperless board meetings, energy purchasing, online training, insurance and much more.

Relaxation Stations

Visit the relaxation stations in aisles 100 and 1600 of the Trade Show. This is your opportunity to get a therapeutic foot massage or a manicure, have your temperature and blood pressure checked, enjoy a relaxing back massage or have your shoes shined.
